

Martin Fritze

University of Regensburg - EFL Didactics and Johann-Turmair-Realschule (Junior High School)

Abensberg & Regensburg, Germany

GAMER TYPE (obviously) Socializer

Professional:

I studied at the Universities of Regensburg and Lancaster (UK), teacher (English / History) since 1999 at junior high schools across Bavaria, teacher trainer and speaker at national conferences, author of course books and publications, lecturer at the Universities of Regensburg and Eichstätt/Ingolstadt.

Gamification:

For far too many years learning and the grading of its 'success' has been linked to a 'one size fits it all', a 'standardization' approach. Time for a change, gamification might be part of this.

Interests:

ice hockey, football, music // paducation, ways of learning, teacher training, testing

Gamer in me:

still undecided on this one ...

Gamification in Education & Training
STUDY VISIT @ BYDGOSZCZ, 2014